POLICE HOT ON TRAIL OF OHIO SLAYER

Whitfield Breaks from Cover Near Lake Kegonsa and Police Officers Trace Him to Edgerton

FUGITIVE BELIEVED NEAR THE END OF HIS RESOURCES

Airplane Aids in Search for Slayer of Cleveland Police man

MADISON, Wis.—All hope of locating the elusive John L. Whitfield before he can get away from this vicinity, was abandoned by police authorities Saturday afternoon as they returned from their all night hunt, having lost trace of the fugitive. Whitfield's trail was lost at Edgerton. He was headed east at the time last seen, according to officers, who now have lost track of the man. They describe him as the "warlike criminal on two feet," and refuse to divulge what the next move in the man hunt will be.

MADISON, Wis.—Just a few moments' end of his pursuers, John L. Whitfield, wanted for the killing of a Cleveland policeman, broke from cover in a hurry after midnight. He was followed by a group of police officers and a large posse by making a temporary getaway in the large green automobile which he stole after escaping from police last Tuesday night. The escaping fugitive was traced as far as Edgerton by police officers headed by Lieutenant Charles Nevel, Cleveland. They are now close on his trail, while the posse still hunts in the nearby country about Lake Kegonsa. Whitfield was seen by several people according to police, speeding down the road between Edgerton and Edgerton. Officers are following his escape. It is reported here.

The following report of the fugitive's escape Sunday morning in a thick fog of heavy fumes. Whitfield had gone, however, and his trail was immediately picked up. It led to Edgerton and the officers were at a loss to know which way the man had taken.

Near End of Resources

With automobiles speeding after him, Whitfield is believed to be near the end of his resources. It is likely an end to his using every ruse to make the escape which he expects makes the end of his life.

Whitfield was seen by several people according to police, speeding down the road between Edgerton and Edgerton. Officers are following his escape. It is reported here.

OUTLOOK IS FOR U. S. OPERATION OF ROADS SAYS BRYAN

Not in Favor of it. But it May be Forced on Country Declares Commoner

SUGGESTS TRUNK LINES WITH ROADS OWNED BY THE STATES

Points to Danger of Centralization of Power at Capital

CHICAGO, Ill.—By The Associated Press.—William Jennings Bryan in addressing the National Railroad Valuation conference, called by Senator La Follette of Wisconsin and others of the "progressive bloc" in and out of congress, declared today that he did not like to think of government ownership but was afraid it might be forced on the country.

The great error of the democratic party said that 24 years ago he had suggested government ownership of the railroads but asserted he "feared" centralization of power in Washington.

He declared that "God did not make men good enough to withstand the temptations of monopolistic control."

Mr. Bryan said he had been a reformer for 12 years and that for 25 years he had been actively interested in the transportation problem.

He suggested that a scheme of government trunk lines with divergent lines owned by the various states might be worked out.

He added that his fundamental position on the railroad question was expressed in the democratic platform as written by him, twenty-four years ago as follows:

"Private monopoly is intolerable and intolerable."

LEGION IS SATISFIED WITH SALE OF POPPIES IN ANNUAL DRIVE HERE

The sale of poppies up to noon Saturday was gratifying to the American Legion and the Legion Auxiliary who are in charge of the drive. It was next to impossible to find anyone on any of the downtown streets Saturday morning who was not wearing one of the red emblems. Girl Reserves in uniform, and others, were stationed on the street corners tagging those who passed, and other groups canvassed the offices and the residential districts.

The fund collected by the American Legion through the sale of the poppies is to be used entirely for the relief of disabled ex-soldiers. The Legion has expended a large sum of money in carrying out its relief program during the past two years, and is depending upon the drive Saturday to provide sufficient funds with which to continue its work.

U. S. Cannot Bar Liquor on Foreign Ships British Stand

WASHINGTON, D. C.—In formal representations to the state department on the ships liquor question, the British government is understood to have taken the position that American port authorities have no jurisdiction in international law to interfere with the bringing of liquor into American waters by foreign vessels as a part of their regular supplies. A formal communication on the subject was transmitted to Secretary Hughes Friday by Sir Auckland Geddes, the British ambassador.

The British position is understood to be based on the construction that the jurisdiction of American officials over foreign ships' cargoes intended for importation into the United States in no way extended to ships' stores or rations.

The British view, with its apparent conflict in principle with the recent supreme court decision, is presented as treasury officials are endeavoring to formulate regulations to carry out the decision, and at the same time, it is understood, satisfy the position of foreign governments. There were increasing indications that they have found a way to accomplish this by permitting foreign ships to list the wine rations of their crews as a part of the medicinal stores allowable under the law.

DUESSELDORF.—By The Associated Press.—Albert Schlagerer was executed by French troops Saturday for sabotage on railroads in the occupied region and other offenses. He was shot in a stone quarry near a cemetery and his body was delivered forthwith to the cemetery authorities. This is the first execution in the occupied zone.

Schlagerer was escorted to the quarry by two priests and went unflinchingly to his death. Ten shots were fired at him.

NIGHT PROWLERS ATTEMPT TO ENTER TWO MORE HOMES

Verket Residence, 1422 Winnebago, and Larson Home, 1228 So. Sixteenth, Threatened

NO TRACE OF MEN IS FOUND WHEN POLICE OFFICERS ARRIVE

Find Screen Partly Removed and Foot Prints in Sand

TWO additional burglaries were believed to have been attempted in residences of the city in the early morning hours on Saturday, members of the Verket family, 1422 Winnebago street, and Georgina Larson, 1228 So. Sixteenth street, telephoned police that prowlers were heard about their premises.

Police officers went out to scout the vicinity of the homes where unable to find any trace of prowlers. An unlocked rear gate, and footprints of two men, one wearing tennis shoes, were found about the Larson home.

Miss Georgina Larson called Central station at 12:10 Saturday morning and reported that prowlers were heard about the house. Mr. Larson told the police when they arrived that he had heard a noise which sounded to him as though some one was walking on the porch roof. He said the rear gate which the police found open, had been locked before he retired. The officers found foot prints of two men in the sand.

Answering a call from the Verket residence about an hour later, police found a screen on a first floor window partly removed, but no trace of men was to be seen. It was reported later that a man bare-headed and dressed in a gray suit, ran past the house and turned south on Fifteenth street.

Police are of the opinion that this is the work of the same gang which earlier in the week entered and robbed three homes in the south end.

SIGNS POINT TO RECORD-BREAKING SEASON ON LAKES

SUPERIOR, Wis.—With the nearing of the close of the third week of navigation on the Great Lakes, the harbor here is cleared of every vessel tied up here for the season. Not an idle ship looms anchor in the Superior-Duluth harbor.

Every indication is that the season of 1923 will be a record breaker. During the week past nearly five million bushels of grain left the head of the lakes. Hundreds of thousands of tons of iron ore have been shipped from Superior and Duluth since the opening of navigation. Not more than a dozen ships, at the very most, have cleared light.

FINANCE COMMITTEE DRAFTS MEASURE TO RAISE UPWARDS OF 14 MILLION IN REVENUE

Bill Proposes Increase in Rates on Individual Incomes, Repeal of School Mill Taxes and Removal of Personal Property Offset on Corporation Incomes

MADISON, Wis.—By the Associated Press.—A new general income tax bill, sponsored by the joint finance committee of the legislature, was drafted by the progressive members of the committee Friday night and reported to the floor of the senate for passage Saturday, with approval of the nine committeemen present. This new measure, drawn along the lines of the Dahl income tax bill, will produce between $14,000,000 and $15,000,000 from incomes, the report says.

Senator Anton Kuckuk, conservative republican representative on the committee, withdrew before consideration of the new tax bill was commenced. He declared that the conservatives had not been invited to participate in a conference which had agreed to provisions of the measure and that he could not be a party to consideration of any pre-arranged plan which he had no hand in shaping.

The finance committee bill, which grew out of the progressive republican decision to side track Governor Blaine's income tax measure calls for an increase in rates on individual incomes from one per cent on the first $1,000 of taxable income to ten per cent on taxable incomes over $15,000. A flat four per cent corporation rate is established.

In an effort to solve the problem raised by the personal property offset to the income tax, the committee bill provides that individual income taxpayers may still offset their personal property taxes against their income tax, while corporations are required to pay the full tax without any offset.

Repeals Mill Taxes

All mill taxes for state purposes to support the university, normal schools, and common schools are repealed by the bill. This makes it necessary, committeemen say, to raise an additional $7,000,000 over the present revenue from income taxes.

Of the $14,000,000 estimated to be produced should provisions of the bill go into effect, fifty per cent would be retained by the state, forty per cent would be returned to municipalities in which collected and ten per cent would go to the counties.

Exemptions allowed by the finance committee bill are $800 for unmarried persons, $1,200 for married persons and $300 for each child or other dependent.

Similar to Dahl Bill

Except for the changed feature of partial repeal of the personal property offset, the finance committee measure is almost identical with the revised Dahl bill according to members. The rates on individuals are approximately the same as those provided by Governor Blaine's measure, senators say.

The progressive republican senators expect to get the support of the socialists for their bill, and express the opinion that they can muster strength enough to get it through the upper house. It is taken for granted that the bill can pass the assembly without much opposition.

At Friday's meeting the tax commission was called into consultation before the bill was drafted.

The finance committee tax bill was made a special order of business for Wednesday June 6, by the senate today.

UMBRELLA MIKE TO JAIL

WAUKEGAN, Ill.—By The Associated Press.—Michael "Umbrella Mike" Boyle, Chicago labor leader, Saturday was sentenced by Judge Robert K. Welch of Rockford, Ill. in the Lake county circuit court, to serve sixty days in jail and to pay a fine of $1,000 for contempt for failing to answer questions in the grand jury investigation of charges of tampering with the jury which acquitted Governor Len Small of conspiracy last year.

JUDGE'S CAR STOLEN

SUPERIOR, Wis.—Automobile handouts Friday night stole the automobile owned by Federal District Judge Claude Z. Luse from the front of his residence here. The car, a Buick touring car, has not yet been recovered.

'ROUND TOWN—

Adherence to the new parking regulation, i. e., staying within eight inches of the curb, was little more than a thought in the mind of Willis Major, driver of a post office parcel post truck, who Friday morning blocked traffic for nearly a block when he temporarily abandoned his machine with the front wheels edging over the car tracks between Fourth and Fifth on Main. A motorist on an east-bound south side car, unable to pass, nervously banged away at his going, while automobiles steadily increasing in number with every minute, joined in with a chorus of honks as the postman's motor idled on the track. People on the streets stopped to wonder what had happened, but continued on their way when Major darted out of a store across the street and loosed the jam by driving on.

LOCAL BANKERS ARE WARNED IN ADVANCE ABOUT SAFE BLOWERS

Robbery at Gays Mills Moves Bankers in Small Towns to Take Precautions

La Crosse bankers were warned a month ago to be on the lookout for safe blowers who would attempt to rob banks in this locality. The notification came from the Wisconsin Bankers' association.

Last Thursday morning the Gays Mills bank was entered by robbers who forced through a brick wall and rifled over 100 safety deposit boxes of $13,000 in cash and jewelry and securities valued at many thousands more. No trace of the robbers has been found and it is believed they made their escape in high powered cars.

Bankers in villages and small cities in western Wisconsin are taking extra precautions to guard their banks, following the Gays Mills robbery and safe blowing jobs in La Crosse and other points in this part of the state.

Chicago Rum Runner Confirms Reports of Wholesale Liquor Smuggling Across Canada Line

CHICAGO, Ill.—By the Associated Press.—The Chicago rum runner who accompanied W. S. Forman on the investigation of the Ecorse, Mich., smuggling shacks described in a series of articles in the Daily News, Saturday made this statement to the Associated Press:

"I have been bringing whiskey out of these shacks and delivering it to my customers in Chicago constantly for two years without interference from the authorities who now deny that any such wholesale traffic exists. I am only one of the many rum runners from many states who have been doing the same thing. I have seen runners there from as far west as Nebraska and Oklahoma."

"We never said or intended to say that within the city of Ecorse itself there are four miles of these shacks. That would be absurd on the face of it. What Mr. Forman's article did say was that they extend for four miles along the American shore. As a matter of fact they extend farther than four miles."

"I was present with Mr. Forman when a Detroit newspaperman mentioned the estimate of 100,000 gallons of booze crossing the line per day. Nobody, least of all the newspaperman himself, maintained that this estimate was accurate. Mr. Forman in his article gave the figure merely as an estimate. One man's guess is as good as another, nobody stands there and tallies the cargoes as they come in. I have been in and around these shacks for two years, and did not attempt to give Mr. Forman any estimate. I am inclined to think it may have exceeded the estimate of 100,000 gallons on some days and fallen far below that figure on others."

Its readers hold positions of power

• It is not enough to say that The Literary Digest reaches 1,300,000 homes, or even—with the customary allowance of five to a home—6,500,000 readers.

Even a casual inspection of the magazine shows that these 1,300,000 homes must be the better homes. The impulse to read The Digest proves by itself an individuality above the average human unit.

But this knowledge and this conviction were not enough for us. We felt that if we only had the power to pick the country over by hand, and began by selecting the most worthwhile, the most influential, the most outstanding man in our American civilization, and then selected the next best, and the next best, and so on, until we had thus selected about 1,300,000 people, what we had picked out in this way would be the circulation of The Digest.

We determined to find out if our conviction was correct. We checked our circulation to learn two things about our readers:

- 1—What do they do for a living?
- 2—What position do they occupy in the business or profession that supports them?

We got our answer, and it confirmed our conviction.*

We learned that an overwhelming majority of our readers filled positions of power. There is, of course, a great difference in the relative power of the head of a great New York bank and the head of the First National Bank of Silver City, N. M. There is a difference between an executive of the U. S. Steel Company and an executive of the Pulaski Tile Works. But the point is we have both.

The men who lead in thought and action in the big cities, and the men who lead in thought and action in the small towns are readers of The Digest.

The Digest did not make them leaders. But leadership makes The Digest necessary to them.

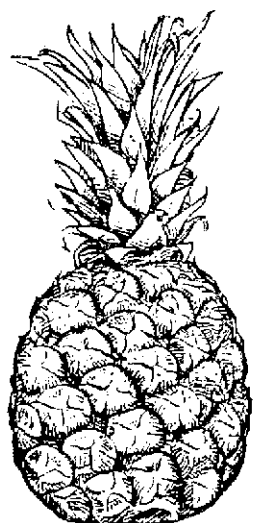

The Digest is not a magazine which shows one how to succeed. But The Digest is a magazine that one grows up to as one succeeds. And having grown up to The Digest one never outgrows it.

The bigger one's job, the wider one's influence, the more important one's decisions, the more necessary is some source of authentic, unbiased news of what the world thinks.

That need The Literary Digest supplies.

OUTLOOK BRIGHTER FOR PASSAGE OF HIGHWAY TAX LAW

See Chances of Favorable Action
on Plan to Transfer Road
Burden to Auto Owners

MADISON, Wis.—By The Associated Press.—The attitude taken by all factions in the upper house of the legislature indicates that highway tax legislation will be passed by the present session transferring much of the burden of highway taxation from general property to the automobile owner.

The senate, where the hardest fight over highway tax legislation was expected, has expressed itself as favorable to changes in the present laws that will shift the tax burden for road construction and maintenance. Senators explained their desire to enact some legislation to bring about a change that will make automobile owners pay more for roads.

Judging by senate action, members say that the enactment of a two-cent tax on gasoline is to be expected. It is also taken for granted that a license fee equivalent, according to weight, will be finally passed. This fee is expected to range from $10 to $20.

Distribution of the $9,000,000 estimated by A. R. Hirst, state highway engineer, to be raised from the two proposed measures would be made on the basis of $6,750,000 to the state and $2,250,000 to counties, to be distributed as the county board sees fit.

Mr. Hirst explained to the legislature that the program included in the highway committee bills did not contemplate any increase in the expenditure by the state for highway purposes. He declared that it was more a readjustment of the burden.

In order to reach the 75,000 automobile owners who are reported by the secretary of state to evade payment of a personal property tax by not licensing before May 1, Senator Walter Poinkowski has introduced an amendment which would place a highway privilege tax on all cars at the personal property rate of taxation. This tax would be in lieu of the personal property taxes and would revert to the localities.

SEATTLE, Wash.—George Washington Carmack, generally reputed to have been the discoverer of gold in the Klondike, died in possession of not more than $1,000, his widow, Mrs. Margaret Laine Carmack of Olympia, Wash., testified here in Superior court. She said that part of the millions he gained from the Klondike he had spent in fruitless prospecting in the Cascade mountains. Mrs. Carmack was brought into court by Herman S. Fry, administrator of the estate.

SEEKS REINSTATEMENT ON CHRISTIAN SCIENCE BOARD

BOSTON, Mass.—A member's report to the effect that the directors of the First Church of Christ Scientist did not have the legal right to remove John V. Dittmore as a member of the board was filed in the Massachusetts supreme court Saturday by Fred. Eric Dodge, a former federal judge. Mr. Dodge based his motion on the facts in the suit brought by Dittmore to compel the other members of the board to recognize him as a member.

"WHAT A WIFE LEARNED"

Fifty barrels of cement and sixty thousand feet of lumber were hauled eleven miles for the building of a dam used to get a single shot in Thomas H. Ince's production, "What a Wife Learned," which comes to the Rivoli Sunday.

The actual construction of the dam was not so great a task as was that of assembling the materials and getting the 200 men necessary to carry the work through to a successful conclusion.

Pack mules hauled the timbers and cement to two camps which were built on each side of the valley where the structure was to be built. A considerable amount of surveying was necessary before work began and all supplies for the far side of the valley had to be hauled through fourteen inches of water.

RIVIERA TODAY

Remember how every now and then a newspaper prints a story about a moving picture "double" for a famous star being killed or injured? As a result people often go to the movies in a skeptical frame of mind, and when the big thrills come, sit back and say, "Oh, the star never did that just a double."

There is one picture today with a bigger thrill in it than any yet witnessed by the newspaper men and audiences who have seen it, in which every minute of that thrill is lived by the star, Anna Q. Nilsson, who pilots a locomotive through a quarter mile of flame in Reginald Barker's production, "Hearts Aflame," now at the Riviera Theater.

CASINO TODAY

Carmel Myers, one of the screen's most popular and most beautiful women, was especially engaged to play opposite John Gilbert in his latest starring vehicle, "The Love Gambler," the Fox production that comes to the Casino Theater today.

Miss Myers, whose beauty is internationally known, is a star in her own right, and getting her in support of Mr. Gilbert was a tremendously difficult task.

CASINO MONDAY

Allie Terry, emulating the role of a missionary's daughter in "These The Plavement Ends," the South Sea story produced by Rex Ingram in Florida, which is coming to the Casino Theater Monday, is much in love with the South Seas—especially with that portion of them which lies within migrating distance of Miami's good hotels. Allie makes no bones about it—she likes the South Sea Islands, but with all modern improvements.

ABANDON HOPE FOR EARLY ADJOURNMENT OF THE LEGISLATURE

Too Much Internal Fighting in
Senate for Any Adjournment
Before July at Least

MADISON, Wis.—Legislators who had hopes of an early adjournment of the present session, have already abandoned any expectation that these hopes might be realized, they now say. Too much of internal fighting in the senate is given as the reason for what appears to be a protracted session.

The coming week will be broken into by Memorial day on Wednesday with a large number of senators absent without leave. Agreement has been reached that important legislation will lie over until the following week.

This will bring the session into June before the tax bill is reached. The highway tax bill, all large appropriation bills and unemployment insurance will still remain to be considered by the houses.

The large number of minor measures can be cleared up in a short time but until the tax bills are out of the way many of the major problems, according to legislators must remain unsettled.

There are few members who see an adjournment before July 1. Many expect that it will run into July.

In silent tunnels under the quaint Finland village of Wisbech are 250,000 bottles of port wine, put there to mature. Some of the wine is a century old.

STILL SMILES

Olivia DeBergh, 2, of Malden, a suburb near Boston, fell into an underground which opened beneath three buildings and a public highway into a pond where the current emptied. She was rescued by a man who jumped in after her. Olive said the venture was great fun.

MAKING DANDELION WINE IS FAVORITE SPORT IN DETROIT

DETROIT, Mich.—So much dandelion wine is being made in Detroit that additional men are needed to handle the garbage tonnage increased by the dumping of dandelion wash in cars, according to Joseph A. Martin, commissioner of public works.

"FATHER FORGIVE" PICTURE COSTS EXHIBITOR FINE

NEW YORK.—Abraham S. Bartinson, secretary of the Society of Independent Artists, Friday was convicted of exhibiting a picture that outraged public decency in the much criticized painting, "Father, Forgive Them," depicting dry advocates railing Christ as he turned water into wine at the wedding feast.

Raylison, whose society permitted hanging of the picture, was paroled until Monday to decide whether to pay a $1000 fine or spend thirty days in the workhouse.

Shown rebuking Christ in the picture were William Jennings Bryan, William F. Anderson, state superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, and former Representative Volstead. It was painted by J. Francis Kaufman and was exhibited at the Waldorf-Astoria hotel last March.

NO CORNERS ON THIS TRIANGLE — LEVIATHAN RESUMES SAILINGS — BOAT FOR YOUR TRUNK

GERMANY'S MEMORIAL DAY—Spiked helmets and ex-royalty were in evidence at the Memorial Day celebration at Doberitz, Germany. Von Hindenburg, former field marshal, leads the procession. On his left is Gessler, minister of defense. The heavy boy in the rear is Ex-Prince Birel Friederich. Lower picture shows surviving members of the ex-prince's command passing in review.

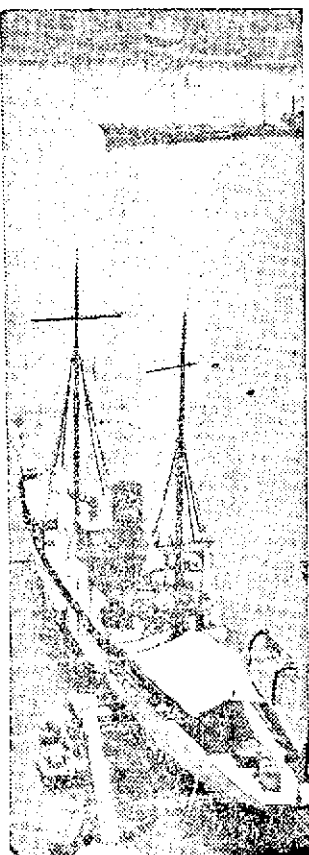

THE LEVIATHAN GOES INTO COMMISSION—The S. S. Leviathan, biggest ship afloat, as she set out from Newport News, Va., on her trial trip to Boston, preparatory to going into service in the American merchant marine.

A WRECK? IT AIN'T NOTHIN' ELSE BUT!—Why, man, that thing that looks like a chip basket that somebody stepped on is the top of a provision truck. Behind it is what used to be that truck's chassis. And with its nose stuck through a store window is the fire patrol that hit the truck. All of this at Court and Nelson streets, Brooklyn, N. Y.

SHE'S YOUNGEST—Only 4, but Helen May Bloodorn, daughter of Commander A. A. Bloodorn, U. S. N., looks a mean rein, they say. She's the youngest entrant in Washington's horse show.

RESTING EASY—The U. S. S. Scorpion has been anchored at this spot in the Golden Horn, Constantinople, for six years. It was injured when the United States entered the war, bombs were thrown at it by British airmen who thought it the Sultan's yacht, and then it was ordered to remain after the war. Commander Robert Henderson, U. S. N. (above), has been aboard those six years.

HUSBANDS BEWARE! DON'T READ!—Husbands had best skip to the next item. But women will be interested to know the hat on this young woman sold for $2300 at the recent millinery fashion show, New York City. Its value lies in the ostrich feather, so it seems, but you can buy an entire ostrich for $2300.

TRIANGLE WITHOUT A SHARP CORNER—This picture furnishes a fat contradiction of the time-worn saw that "two's company, three's a crowd." Here are Roy Cummings, vaudeville actor, Mrs. Helen Cummings, his divorced wife, and Mrs. Irene Shaw Cummings, his present wife, holding Edna, daughter of the first Mrs. Cummings. This, at their cottage near Derby, Conn.

BOAT FOR THE VACATION TRUNK—The lady is demonstrating a collapsible boat recently invented in London. It can be packed in the vacation trunk. The inventor is now perfecting a collapsible car to go with it.

WEDS TUTOR?—Berlin now learns Maria Rosa, princess of Hohenzollern-Sigmaringen, is to marry Joseph Hugo Waldenmiller, a village schoolmaster. He is the son of a factory worker and formerly tutored the princess.

JUST MARRIED—Edith Day, musical comedy star, and Pat Somerset, English actor, just after they were married at Greenwich, Conn., following a romance that brought them into the public eye of England and America.

SOME KICKER!—Oh, girls! Bet you can't kick as high as Chloris Christner kicks. In Prof. Burt McNutrie's kicking contest in Pittsburg, she kicked over all other kicking records. And she won first prize in a beauty contest, too!

STORK AT THE ZOO—Of course, the stork's always at the zoo. That's why you see so many pictures of different sorts of little babies. Here's Mama Buffalo and Little Buff just two hours after Little Buff arrived at the Bronx Zoo, New York.

ALL GLAD TO SEE HER BACK—Miss Blanche Newcombe of Pectoria, O., has the most perfect back in North America, say judges at the recent national contest conducted by the National League for Prevention of Spinal Curvature. She received $1000. Rib development was the chief point stressed in the contest. Horseback riding on western plains developed her back, she says.

MOMENT, PLEASE!—Now we know you won't bawl out the operator when you're telephoning Havana, Cuba. Senorita Carmita Fernandez Ramos, the operator who'll probably handle your call, is about the most popular girl in the island republic.

RIVALS VENUS—Miss Ellen Kamery, 20, East Northport, N. Y., is said by noted artists to be the only possessor of the perfect profile of pure ancient Grecian type. She has light hair, blue eyes and a pink and white complexion.

TRAVELS FAR ON THIN DIME—Little James Chester Nalin, 6, Tiptonville, Tenn., smiled during his trip to Chicago, for wasn't he going to the big doctors who are going to straighten his limbs? He had a ticket and a dime when he started out alone. Passengers raised it to $10. James will be the first subject for surgeons trying a new operation.
